TIDG'S OUTLOOK ON COVID-19: THE TIME IS NOW

During these past few months of unfortunate uncertainties, Toronto Interior Design Group has done the utmost to remain offering the best design experience to its existing preferred clientele. Our objective has been to minimize the impact of the pandemic and its restrictions on their design planning and renovation projects. With the recent government announcement of the restrictions easement on our sector of business operations, we are pleased to share with you that we are intensifying our hard work to meet the needs and expectations of our present and future clientele.

We also wish to inform you that the safety, health and well-being of all our clients, designers, support staff, artisans and construction teams is our top priority. We at Toronto Interior Design Group take the safety guidelines extremely seriously as we take precautions to carry on our projects to maturity properly.

We work effectively and stay in touch via phone, email, FaceTime or Zoom with our clients and design teams for all required correspondence/meetings called for by our design process. We are carrying out on-site assessments and design planning site visits with one technical/designer/trade staff member at a time when our client must be present and our team members and our clients must wear a mask and maintain the 2 meters social distancing requirement at all times.

When construction/installation work is carried out in the homes of our clients, our teams must also wear, at all times, the appropriate protective safety apparel and respect the distancing rules. Hand washing is mandatory at regulated specific times during the day where all team members at our office or on our project sites must strictly abide by. We will review all our safety & health precautions as the time evolves and adjust accordingly.

The time is now for all of us at Toronto Interior Design Group to keep striving to offer comfort, peace and an unparalleled design journey to our valued customers. May we all do what we can to keep reaching for the best and the better despite these never before experienced times we live in.
